18. Risk Disclaimer

Trading and investing in financial instruments, including securities, forex, stock markets, commodities, Contracts for Difference (CFDs), options, and futures, involves significant risk. These markets are highly volatile, and the value of your investments may rise or fall, potentially leading to substantial losses, including losses that may exceed your original investment.

The use of leverage, particularly in products like CFDs, forex, and futures, can amplify both gains and losses. You may be subject to margin calls, requiring you to deposit additional funds to maintain your positions, and you may lose more than your initial deposit.

Before engaging in any trading activity, you should:

- i. Carefully assess your financial situation,

- ii. Consider your risk tolerance, and
- iii. Define your investment objectives.

These financial instruments are complex and may not be suitable for all investors. It is essential that you fully understand the risks involved.

We strongly recommend seeking independent financial advice before participating in trading or investing activities.

By proceeding, you confirm that you understand and accept the risks and agree to take full responsibility for any losses incurred, including those that may exceed your principal amount.
